Yesterday afternoon Secretary Wells of the street railroad company sub-mitted to the county commissioners a petition for a franchise to construct and operate the Highland Boy smalter line from the intersection of West Temple and Tenth South southerly to Fifteenth south and thence west to a continuation of Second West, a distance of about eight and a half miles. While no petition was presented for a franchise for the line to Granger and Taylorsville, it is hoped by the people living west of the river that it will branch off at Thirteenth South street.

An announcement that will bring no The spring meeting of the Utah little amount of satisfaction to the Presbytery convened in the Westminresidents of the rapidly growing section | ster church last night. A good represouth and southwest of this city is sentation of the Presbytery was presthat the Salt Lake City Railroad com- ent, and an enthusiastic session was pany has determined to extend its held. The programme of the opening West Temple street car line from session consisted of a sermon by Mod-Roper or Tenth South street to the vicinity of the Highland Boy smeiter west of Murray and that another line may also be run on the west side of the river to serve the thickly settled portions of Granger and Taylorsville. The line at present stops at Ninth South street, but no difficulty is anticipated in securing a franchise from that point to the city limits.

A feature of the Salt Lake company's intentions that will appeal particularly to the interests of the people south and southwest of the city is that it is intended to operate a line of cars that will carry not only passengers, but the United States mail, express and light freight. For this purpose specially constructed cars, propelled by electricity, will be operated in, a manner like that which is common on lines suburban to eastern cities.

Moderator T. N. Buchanan then took for his text the fourth verse of the fifth chapter of Genesis, which recounts the translation of Enoch. Calling atten-tion to the phrase, "Enoch walked with God," the speaker said that that was the shortest biography perhaps in the world, but that despite its briefness it meant more than volumes of blogra-phies such as are written in this age, and contained that which would reach down through all time, and lessons that might be drawn by men of every age.

Quoting the last phrase in the text, which reads, "God took him," the speaker said that that was the brief but all embracing obituary that Enoch had won by his life. "He walked with God," said he, "until he walked into heaven."

in conclusion, Mr. Buchanan exhorted all to walk with God, and said that it should be a season of joy when one who had spent his life in the footsteps of God passed to the beyond.

New Moderator Elected.

At the close of the sermon Mr. Bu-chanan called the Presbytery to order. The matter of selecting a moderator was first taken up, and resulted in the choice of Rev. Jostah McClain of the Third Presbyterian church of this city. The retiring moderator, with a few remarks, welcomed his successor to his new position, and Mr. McClain replied, thanking the Fresbytery for the honor onferred upon him. Elder G. H. Marshall of Mt. Have a Set-to.

A dispute over money matters caused a rough house in the city jall Wednesday night, as a result of which one prisoner is now under the treatment of "Dr." Solomon Kimball for a badly disabled back and another is nursing a "swelled mit." The mix-up was so spirited that the stove was upset in the tray and the rest of the prisoners were almost suffocated before the damage could be repaired. The principals in the affair were Steven McKinney, who is doing a three-month sentence for indecent conduct, and Peter Poulson, who is stopping there for the same length of time for getting on a drunk and fracturing the peace.

According to the story of Mckinney, he had $10.85 coming to him from a second-hand man and, not being able to do his own collecting on account of his confinement, got Poulson, who is a trusty, to act as his collector: Poulson turned in the $10, but the extra $5 cents was not forthcoming, and there is where the trouble started. Poulson maintained that the debtor did not pay the extra amount, but McKinney, he deciared, insinuated that he had been paid, but had pocketed the money.

that he had been pade, the money.

Poulson strenuously denied that he had been guilty of any such conduct, and Tuesday night when McKinney made some remark about the matter Poulson knocked him down. In the mix-up that followed the stove was upset and the furniture demolished.

MRS. TINGEY TO Y.L.M.I.A.

CONFERENCE OF GENERAL OF-FICERS HELD YESTERDAY.

The young woman who spends her time behind a counter in a store in order to dress herself must adopt some other mode of living if she would come within the conception of ideality proposed by the board of the Young Ladies' Mutual Improvement association. At least, this is the issue laid down by Mrs. Mattie H. Tingey, counselor o the general board, at the conference of the general officers in the Fourteenth ward assembly rooms yesterday afternoon. That dream of an Easter bonnet must be sighed at and passed up that silken rustling skirt must be a myth; there must be no such thing as patent-leather footwear, and that pretty little ruffle of Elizabeth lace must be but a reminiscence in the imagina out the state by the teachers of this exemplary organization.

Mrs. Tingey was asked for a few remarks shortly after the meeting was called to order by President Elmina S. Taylor. The attendance was not very large, owing to the condition of the weather underfoot. It was announced that members of the general board would address the conference on topics chosen by themselves.

Mrs. Tingey said, in part: "The people of today are worshipers of things of the world, fashions and styles. They are taking preference over the worship in dress or in the furnishing of houses. It has been stated here this afternoon that the extravagance and folly of women lead men into debt and to crime; to the embezzlement of money. It is my belief that wemen are no worse than men.

"A man always likes to have his wife look as well as other women and to have his home furnished as well as other homes. But there certainly is a spirit of extravagance among the people of our community, and it must be curtailed. We must come down to the moderate stage of existence. The Lord does not like it otherwise. While he intended the nicest things for his people, he did not intend that we should have them before we are able to pay for them.

"There are many young women who leave home to work in order that they may look well. This evil.exists to a large extent. The girls are needed at nome, to help around the house, yet they will go out and work in stores to make money that their backs may be clothed stylishly. They wear out their bodies in doing it. A girl must not rely on her outward adornment for her position in the world. It is all wrong."

In closing, Mrs. Tingey urged the officers of the Y. L. M. I. A. to instruct their members to live moderate and temporate lives. temporate lives.

PARLEY'S CANYON SUIT

NINETEEN WITNESSES HEARD YESTERDAY.

Judge Stewart was occupied yesterday in the trial of the case of David B. Brinton against Salt Lake City to recover damages in the sum of $50 for the alleged unlawful obstruction of Parley's canyon as a driveway for livestock. By consent, Charles S. Stillman was granted leave to join issues with Brinton in the prosecution of the suit. The plaintiffs are represented by Attorneys Smith & Wilson, and the defense is in the hands of City Attorney Ste-phens and C. G. Gattrell. The trial will probably be concluded today. Bishop Brinton is not present at the trial, for the reason that he is fulfilling a mission the eastern states for the Mormon church.

The plaintiffs alleged that on July 1 of last year Patrolman Phineas Young, acting for the city, prevented them from driving forty-eight head of cattle from driving forty-eight head of cattle through the canyon, which, it is claimed, is a public highway. The complaint prays for a judgment for damages of $50 and a decree restraining the municipality from interfering with the free use of the canyon road in the manner complained of by plaintiffs. The defense pleads that by city ordinance, enacted in pursuance of state law, the use of Parley's canyon is prohibited as a driveway for livestock, for the reason that such use results in pollution of the flow of the creek, which, in part, supplies the people of this city in part, supplies the people of this city with water. George decided to leave town last week, and as he preferred riding to walking, he took a horse belonging to James Riley and a saddie of Andrew Morris. Morris swore out a warrant and Sheriff Barton served the same on Robinson at Kanosh, where he had sold the horse, but still inad the saddle in his possession. He has only been prosecuted on the lesser offense, and is liable to have the other charge to meet in the district court.

There are but two smallpox flags floating in our city at the present time, one at the residence of James Muirs, where the patients are all well, but the time of the duarantine has not expired; the other at the residence of L. W. Harris.

Dr. G. H. Fennemener left here for Sait Lake City today. Dame Rumor says that he will take unto himself a wife during his sojourn in the metropolis.

Coalville Notes.

(Special Correspondence.)

Coalville, April 2.—School Superintendent Blocher is visiting the district schools in the northern end of the county.

The board of county commissioners adjourned this evening after a session of two days. Among other business transacted by the board claims aggregating $700 were allowed.

Petitions from the people of Peoa, Oakley and other precincts protesting against the use of poison in exterminating squirrels were received. The petitioners favored a bounty rather than strychnine for the rodents.

J. W. Wilde was confirmed as deputy sheriff.
